7 TO PLAINTIFF AND PLAINTIFF’S ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

8 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT on September 25, 2023, at 1:30 p.m., or as soon
9 thereafter as the matter may be heard in the Robert E. Coyle Federal Courthouse, located at 2500
10 Tulare Street, Courtroom 1, Fresno, California 93721, Courtroom 1, Eighth Floor, Defendants 11 STEVE WATKIN, RICHARD McCROW, THOMAS BURKE, ROMEO AGBALOG, JOHN S.
12 CORKINS, KAY S. MEEK, KYLE CARTER, CHRISTINA SCRIVNER, NAN GOMEZ-13 HEITZEBERG, and YOVANI JIMENEZ (collectively “Defendants”)<sup>1</sup> will and hereby do move 14 to dismiss the First Amended Complaint (“FAC”) of Plaintiff DAYMON JOHNSON (“Plaintiff” 15 or “Johnson”) pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (“FRCP”).

16 The moving Defendants seek to dismiss the FAC for failure to state a claim upon which 17 relief can be granted on the following grounds:

18 1. The first, second, and third counts against the Defendants allege viewpoint
19 discrimination in violation of the First Amendment but fail to state a claim because the FAC 20 alleges no adverse employment action. See Dahlia v. Rodriguez, 735 F.3d 1060, 1067 (9th Cir.
21 2013).

22 2. The first, second, and third counts against the Defendants should be dismissed 23 because Plaintiff lacks standing to assert a pre-enforcement challenge to California Education 24 Code Sections 87732 and 87735 and District Board Policy 3050. Susan B. Anthony List v.
25 Driehaus, 573 U.S. 149, 157-58 (2014); Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560-61 877

26 3. The first, second, and third counts against the Defendants in their official capacity

27 _____
28 <sup>1</sup> The above-captioned counsel represents each of the Defendants in this matter, except Sonya
Christian, Chancellor of the California Community Colleges.

1 should be dismissed, because Johnson alleges the Defendants are liable under 42 U.S.C. section 2 1983 (“Section 1983”) yet pleads insufficient facts to establish liability. Monell v. Dep’t of Soc.
3 Servs. of City of New York, 436 U.S. 658, 690 n.54 (1978).

4 4. The fourth and fifth counts against the Defendants should be dismissed because 5 Johnson’s Section 1983 claim regarding California state regulations faults the Defendants for 6 complying with state laws and fails to join the Board of Governors of the California Community
7 Colleges as a necessary party. Sandoval v. Cty. of Sonoma, 912 F.3d 509, 517-18 (9th Cir. 2018); 8 Shermoen v. United States, 982 F.2d 1312, 1317 (9th Cir. 1992).

9 This Motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the attached Memorandum of 10 Points and Authorities, all of the pleadings and papers on file with the Court herein, on such 11 matters of which this Court may take judicial notice, and any further evidence and argument that 12 the Court may receive at or before the hearing on this Motion.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff Daymon Johnson (“Johnson” or “Plaintiff”) seeks declaratory and injunctive relief against the Board of Trustees of the Kern Community College District (the “District”) and officials of the District and Bakersfield College. Defendants Steve Watkin, Richard McCrow, Thomas Burke, Romeo Agbalog, John S. Corkins, Kay S. Meek, Kyle Carter, Christina Scrivner, Nan Gomez-Heitzeberg, and Yovani Jimenez (“Defendants”) seek dismissal of Johnson’s First Amended Complaint (“FAC”) because it fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

First, Johnson has not and cannot establish that he suffered any actual harm. There was an investigation into a complaint against him, but the District expressly stated that there would be no action taken against him. Any “threat” of further investigation is merely a statement that the District takes all complaints seriously. In fact, Johnson’s own exhibits to the FAC demonstrate that the District investigates complaints, regardless of the complainant’s ideological or political views. Most of Johnson’s lawsuit is based on speculation about what might happen in the future if he decides to act inconsistently with state regulations that promote diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility. See infra Section IV.A.1.

Second, to the extent Johnson feels that his speech has been “chilled,” he has failed to establish this to be the case. Johnson points to actions taken against his colleague, Matthew Garrett, but their conduct is not the same. Garrett was terminated for misconduct unrelated to Johnson, and Johnson has not alleged any similar conduct that he has engaged in that would subject him to discipline. Instead, he speculates very generally that he might be disciplined in the future. See infra Section IV.A.2.

Third, Johnson has not alleged sufficient facts to establish Monell liability against Defendants. See infra Section IV.A.3. Moreover, Johnson admits that the District is simply complying with state regulations, which should not subject Defendants to liability. Also, Johnson has failed to join the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges, which precludes Johnson obtaining the relief he seeks. See infra Section IV.B.

For the foregoing reasons, Johnson’s claims against Defendants must be dismissed.

1 II. RELEVANT ALLEGATIONS AND FACTUAL BACKGROUND

2 Johnson filed his FAC alleging the following violations of law: (1) viewpoint
3 discrimination under the First Amendment through an as applied to challenge California 4 Education Code sections 87732 and 87735; (2) viewpoint discrimination under the First 5 Amendment through an as applied to challenge to the District’s Board Policy 3050; (3) vagueness
6 under the First and Fourteenth Amendments through an as applied challenge to Board Policy 7 3050; (4) viewpoint discrimination under the First Amendment through an as applied challenge to 8 the California Code of Regulations, title 5, sections 51200, 51201, 53425, 53601, 53602, and 9 53605; and (5) compelled speech under the First Amendment through an as applied challenge to 10 California Code of Regulations, title 5, sections 51200, 51201, 53425, 53601, 53602, and 53605.
11 (First Amended Complaint filed July 6, 2023 (Docket No. 8) (“FAC”), ¶¶ 157-185.)

12 A. THE DISTRICT INVESTIGATES A COMPLAINT AGAINST JOHNSON

13 Plaintiff’s FAC alleges as follows. On September 21, 2021, Professor Andrew Bond, a 14 faculty member at Bakersfield College,<sup>2</sup> filed a Human Resources complaint against Johnson
15 alleging Johnson engaged in harassment and bullying based on a Facebook post and commentary 16 Johnson posted online. (Id., ¶ 73.) The District initiated an investigation. (Id., ¶ 74.) The matter 17 concluded on February 23, 2022, when then-College President Zav Dadabhoj sent Johnson the 18 District’s administrative determination of the complaint against him. (Id., ¶ 74; Exhibit E to FAC 19 (Docket No. 8-6).) The administrative determination stated that Johnson’s conduct presented no 20 cause for discipline. (FAC, ¶ 74.) The administrative determination also stated the District “will 21 investigate any further complaints of harassment and bullying and, if applicable, will take 22 appropriate remedial action including but not limited to any discipline determined to be 23 appropriate.” (Id.)

24 There are no allegations in the FAC or accompanying exhibits that the District imposed 25 discipline on Johnson, or took any further action against Johnson based on Professor Bond’s 26 complaint.

1           B.       THE DISTRICT TERMINATES GARRETT FOR MISCONDUCT
2                           UNRELATED TO JOHNSON

3           Matthew Garrett was a faculty member at the College. On November 21, 2022, 4 Defendant McCrow issued Garrett a 90-day notice pursuant to California Education Code Section 5 87734. (Id., ¶ 79; Exhibit F to FAC (Docket No. 8-7).) The 90-day notice identified acts of 6 Garrett’s unprofessional conduct and unsatisfactory performance, including filing frivolous 7 complaints against his colleagues, violating campus COVID policies, and making false statements
8 about the District and its faculty. (FAC, ¶ 79.)

9           President Dadabhoy formally recommended termination to the District’s Board of 10 Trustees. (Id., ¶ 6, 89.) The Statement of Charges accompanying President Dadabhoy’s 11 recommendation stated that Garrett failed to follow the directives contained in the 90-day notice 12 and failed to cure his “deficient job performance,” and went on to describes the bases for the 13 termination of Garrett’s employment. (Id., ¶ 6, 92.) The District terminated Garrett’s 14 employment on the grounds of immoral or unprofessional conduct (Cal. Educ. Code, §§ 87732, 15 subd. (a), and 87735); dishonesty (Cal. Educ. Code, § 87732, subd. (b)); unsatisfactory 16 performance (Cal. Educ. Code, § 87732, subd. (c)); evident unfitness for service (Cal. Educ.
17 Code, § 87732, subd. (d)); persistent violation of, or refusal to obey, the school laws of the state 18 or reasonable regulations prescribed for the government of the community colleges by the board 19 of governors or by the governing board of the community college district employing him or her 20 (Cal. Educ. Code, § 87732, subd. (f)); and willful refusal to perform regular assignments without 21 reasonable cause, as prescribed by reasonable rules and regulations of the employing district (Cal.
22 Educ. Code, § 87732, subd. (c)). (Id., ¶ 96; Ex. G to FAC (Docket No. 8-8).) Then-District
23 Chancellor Christian concurred in President Dadabhoy’s recommendation. (FAC, ¶ 96.)

24           On April 13, 2023, the Board of Trustees terminated Garrett’s employment with the 25 District. (Id., ¶ 6, 90; Ex. G to FAC (Docket No. 8-8).)

26           C.       KERN COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT COMPLIES WITH STATE
27                           REGULATIONS

28           In or around November 2022, the California Community Colleges Board of Governors

1 promulgated regulatory changes related to diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility 2 (“DEIA”). The Board of Governors determined that all “community college employees should 3 develop the professional skills, knowledge, and behaviors necessary to provide our diverse 4 student population with the welcoming and inclusive campus environments that are necessary to 5 student success and more equitable outcomes through the reduction of achievement gaps.” (Ex. B 6 to FAC (Docket No. 8-3), p. 2). The Board of Governors set forth new regulations that establish 7 a DEIA competency and criteria framework that “serve as a minimum standard for evaluating all 8 California Community College employees” and “enable colleges and districts to discuss and 9 adopt the minimum skills, abilities, and knowledge, employees must possess or would need to 10 acquire to teach, work, and lead at California Community Colleges.” (Id.) The regulations 11 became effective April 16, 2023. (Id.)

12 Title 5, California Code of Regulations, section 52010, required the District to conform its 13 policies and procedures to the regulatory requirements within 180 days of this effective date.
 14 (See id.) Additionally, on May 5, 2023, the California Community Colleges Chancellor’s Office 15 issued a memorandum “to provide information regarding the Evaluation and tenure review of 16 district employees and the resources that are available to support districts and colleges with local 17 implementation of these regulations.” (Id. at p. 3.)

18 Johnson just “successfully completed an evaluation period” and will not be evaluated for 19 three more years. (FAC, ¶ 113.) Johnson has not and cannot allege that he has received any 20 negative evaluations, discipline, or even threats of discipline as a result of the Board of 21 Governors’ recent adoption of new regulations and the District’s implementation of those 22 regulations.

23 III. THE STANDARD FOR A FEDERAL RULE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE 12(B)(6)
 24 MOTION TO DISMISS

25 Defendants in federal court can file motions to dismiss, pursuant to Federal Rule of 26 Civil Procedure 12(b)(6), on the basis that a complaint fails to state a claim on which relief can 27 be granted. To survive a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), the plaintiff must allege 28 “enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S.

1 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). A federal 2 court complaint cannot simply include conclusory allegations and no facts providing support.
 3 Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (“Threadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by 4 mere conclusory statements, do not suffice” to survive a motion to dismiss).

5 Indeed, allegations in the complaint need not be accepted as true if they are merely 6 conclusory, unwarranted deductions of fact, or unreasonable inferences. Sprewell v. Golden State
 7 Warriors, 266 F.3d 979, 988 (9th Cir. 2001). Likewise, Courts are not required to accept as true a 8 plaintiff’s legal conclusion “couched as a factual allegation.” Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555.

9 IV. LEGAL ANALYSIS

10 A. COUNTS I, II, AND III LACK MERIT AS A MATTER OF LAW

11 1. Johnson Has Not Alleged Any Adverse Employment Action

12 A plaintiff must suffer an adverse employment action to state a First Amendment 13 retaliation claim. Dahlia v. Rodriguez, 735 F.3d 1060, 1067 (9th Cir. 2013). “To constitute an 14 adverse employment action, a government act of retaliation need not be severe and it need not be 15 of a certain kind. Nor does it matter whether an act of retaliation is in the form of the removal of 16 a benefit or the imposition of a burden.” Coszalter v. City of Salem, 320 F.3d 968, 975 (9th Cir.
 17 2003). The test is whether the action is “reasonably likely to deter employees from engaging in 18 protected activity.” Id. at 976.

19 Here, Johnson alleges he was subject to the following actions: (1) an investigation into the 20 administrative complaint received from Johnson’s co-employee, (see FAC, ¶ 74, p. 15.) and (2) an 21 administrative determination that “communicated the [D]istrict’s determination that Johnson’s 22 conduct presented no cause for discipline.” (See FAC ¶ 75, p. 15.) Neither is an adverse 23 employment action as a matter of law.

24 a. An Investigation Is Not an Adverse Employment Action

25 A reasonable investigation into a complaint about a public employee’s alleged 26 misconduct does not constitute an adverse employment action triggering a First Amendment 27 retaliation claim. In fact, the U.S. Supreme Court recognized that managers at public agencies 28 must have some investigatory discretion notwithstanding employee First Amendment rights.

1 Waters v. Churchill, 511 U.S. 661, 678 (1994). Courts have repeatedly found that an 2 investigation of a public employee’s alleged misconduct did not constitute an adverse 3 employment action. Campbell v. Hawaii Dep’t of Educ., 892 F.3d 1005, 1013 (9th Cir. 2018) 4 (holding that an investigation into allegations of misconduct with no resulting change to the 5 conditions of employment is not an adverse employment action); Swenson v. Potter, 271 F.3d 6 1184, 1192-1193 (9th Cir. 2001) (holding that employers are obligated to investigate complaints 7 received from employees about other employees); Siu v. De Alwis, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 145220, 8 at *7 (D. Haw. July 29, 2009) (following Swenson).

9 Here, the facts alleged in the FAC show the District’s investigation was a reasonable 10 response to the complaint by Professor Bond. The FAC contains no allegations that the 11 investigation the District initiated in response to a co-employee complaint had any features that 12 made it egregious or unfair, or that it was accompanied by other retaliatory measures.

13 Accordingly, the investigation of which Johnson complains falls short of being considered an 14 adverse employment action.

15 b. A Notice of Determination Is Not An Adverse Employment
 16 Action

17 After an investigation concludes, formal memoranda or notices from employers typically 18 do not constitute an adverse employment action. Documents from an employer devoid of any 19 disciplinary action or reprimand do not rise to the level of an adverse employment action.
 20 Zandberg v. Edmonds High Sch. Dist. No. 15, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 30084, at *23 (W.D. Wash.
 21 Apr. 9, 2009), aff’d sub nom. Zandberg v. Edmonds Sch. Dist. No. 15, 378 F. App’x 714 (9th Cir.
 22 2010).

23 Here, the facts alleged in the FAC regarding the administrative determination do not 24 establish that it constitutes an adverse employment action. Although the administrative 25 determination addresses 29 separate allegations raised in Professor Bond’s complaint (including 26 conclusions that both sustained some allegations and did not sustain other allegations), the 27 administrative determination ultimately determined Johnson’s “conduct presented no cause for 28 discipline” and the administrative determination does not itself discipline Johnson. See FAC, ¶

1 75, page 15:18-24.

2 c. Notice of Potential Future Investigations is Not an Adverse 3 Employment Action

4 Additionally, Johnson seems to allege the District will subject him to adverse actions in 5 the future as a result of the District complying with new DEIA regulations. Johnson alleges that 6 Defendants stated the District would “investigate any further complaints of harassment and 7 bullying, and if applicable, will take appropriate remedial action including but not limited to any 8 discipline determined to be appropriate” (see FAC ¶ 76, p. 15.), but mere warnings of potential 9 discipline are not sufficient to constitute adverse employment actions. Nunez v. City of Los 10 Angeles, 147 F.3d 867, 875 (9th Cir. 1998) (“Mere threats and harsh words are insufficient.”).

11 As alleged, the FAC never states that Johnson was subject to reprimand or discipline other 12 than simply receiving the administrative determination and statement that the District will 13 investigate future complaints of harassment and bullying and take appropriate remedial action as 14 appropriate, none of which rise to the level of an adverse employment action. (See FAC, ¶ 76, p.
15 15.) As the Ninth Circuit described in Nunez, 147 F.3d at 875, regarding the adverse employment 16 action requirement, in explaining how “mere threats and harsh words are insufficient”: “It would 17 be the height of irony, indeed, if mere speech, in response to speech, could constitute a First 18 Amendment violation.”<sup>3</sup> Here, the FAC merely speculates that Johnson will be subject to 19 discipline because the District must comply with the DEIA regulations and does not offer any 20 alleged facts that support this assertion.<sup>4</sup> The District has not imposed, or even threatened, an 21 adverse employment action against Johnson related to the District’s implementation of the DEIA

23 <sup>3</sup> The FAC tries to allege an adverse employment action by adding the boilerplate conclusion that 24 various conduct by the Defendants “chills and compels” Plaintiff’s speech, was reasonably likely 25 to and did chill Plaintiff’s speech on the subject of diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility, 26 and deters him from further public discussion on these issues. (See FAC, ¶¶ 104, 111, 114.) This 27 conclusory allegation does not overcome that the FAC itself does not allege actual facts 28 supporting this critical, prima facie element, i.e., a chilling effect that somehow meets the standard for an adverse employment action. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (“Threadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice” to survive a motion to dismiss).

<sup>4</sup> Defendants will address below the allegation that actions taken against Johnson’s colleague, Garrett, somehow support the District’s intent to take action against Johnson.

1 regulations. Without an adverse employment action, Johnson has not stated a valid First 2 Amendment retaliation claim.

3 In light of the foregoing, the FAC does not sufficiently allege that Johnson was subject to 4 an adverse employment action and his first, second, and third causes of action thus fail as a 5 matter of law.

6 2. Johnson Lacks Standing To Assert A Pre-Enforcement Challenge To 7 Education Code Section 87732 And 87735 or Board Policy 3050

8 To establish Article III standing, a plaintiff must show “(1) an ‘injury in fact,’ (2) a 9 sufficient ‘causal connection between the injury and the conduct complained of,’ and (3) a 10 ‘likel[i]hood’ that the injury will be redressed by a favorable decision.” Susan B. Anthony List v.
11 Driehaus, 573 U.S. 149, 157-58 (2014) (“SBA List”) (quoting Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 12 U.S. 555, 560-61 (1992)). Each element is an “indispensable part of the plaintiff’s case” and 13 must be established with “the manner and degree of evidence required at the successive stages of 14 the litigation.” Lujan, 504 U.S. at 561. Johnson fails to establish an injury in fact sufficient for 15 Article III standing.

16 An injury in fact is “an invasion of a legally protected interest” and ensures the plaintiff 17 has a “personal stake in the outcome of the controversy.” Id. at 560; SBA List, 573 U.S. at 158.
18 A sufficient injury must be “concrete and particularized” and “actual or imminent,” not 19 “conjectural” or “hypothetical.” Lujan, 504 U.S. at 560.

20 a. Johnson Has Not Alleged an Actual Injury in Fact

21 As discussed above, Johnson has not alleged any adverse employment action suffered in 22 the past. Thus, there is no actual injury suffered based on the District’s compliance with 23 Education Code sections 87732 and 87735.

24 b. Johnson Has Not Alleged an Imminent Future Injury in Fact

25 Allegations of future injuries must be “certainly impending,” or pose a “substantial risk” 26 that the harm will occur. SBA List, 573 U.S. at 158. In the First Amendment context, mere 27 “allegations of a subjective ‘chill’ upon the exercise of First Amendment rights are not an 28 adequate substitute for a claim of specific present objective harm or a threat of specific future

1 harm . . .” Laird v. Tatum, 408 U.S. 1, 13-14 (1972); see also Younger v. Harris, 401 U.S. 37, 42
 2 (1971) (noting intervening plaintiffs may not bring a First Amendment pre-enforcement challenge 3 “solely because, in the language of their complaint, they ‘feel inhibited’”).

4 Plaintiffs may bring a pre-enforcement challenge to laws and still satisfy the injury in fact 5 requirement by alleging they possess “an intention to engage in a course of conduct arguably 6 affected with a constitutional interest, but proscribed by a statute, and there exists a credible threat
 7 of prosecution thereunder.” Babbitt v. Farm Workers, 442 U.S. 289, 299 (1979); SBA List, 573
 8 U.S. at 159. The Ninth Circuit has established a three-factor test to determine whether plaintiffs 9 have shown a “credible threat” of “imminent” enforcement: “[1] whether the plaintiffs have 10 articulated a concrete plan to violate the law in question, [2] whether the prosecuting authorities 11 have communicated a specific warning or threat to initiate proceedings, and [3] the history of past 12 prosecution or enforcement under the challenged statute.” United Data Servs., LLC v. FTC, 39 13 F.4th 1200, 1210 (9th Cir. 2022) (citing Clark v. City of Seattle, 899 F.3d 802, 813 (9th Cir.
 14 2018)); see also Lopez v. Candaele, 630 F.3d 775, 785-86 (9th Cir. 2010).

15 i. The Complaint Does Not Allege A Concrete Plan

16 Under this test, a plaintiff must show there is a “reasonable likelihood that the government 17 will enforce the challenged law against them” by articulating a “concrete plan” to violate the law; 18 this includes by providing details about their future speech, such as “when, to whom, where, or 19 under what circumstances.” Thomas v. Anchorage Equal Rights Comm’n, 220 F.3d 1134, 1139 20 (9th Cir. 1999); Lopez, 630 F.3d at 786-87. Merely stating a plaintiff faces “serious civil 21 penalties” is insufficient to establish that the penalties resulting from threatened enforcement of 22 the challenged law are actually “imminent or realistic.” United Data Servs., 39 F.4th at 1211.

23 Here, the FAC fails to adequately allege Johnson possesses a concrete plan to engage in 24 conduct that would lead to his discipline under Education Code sections 87732 and 87735. The 25 FAC alleges several ways in which Johnson purportedly self-censors to avoid discipline under the 26 Education Code or Board Policy 3050. (See, e.g., FAC, ¶¶ 102-112; 149-153.) To the extent the 27 FAC identifies any concrete plan to violate the law in the future potentially punishable under 28 Education Code sections 87732 and 87735 or Board Policy 3050, it is limited to Johnson’s future

1 alleged refusal to comply with DEIA regulations. (FAC, ¶¶ 113-148.) However, Johnson’s
 2 future injury remains hypothetical and speculative. Failing to comply with the regulations does 3 not necessarily entail a negative evaluation, a negative evaluation does not necessarily entail 4 substantive discipline, and substantive discipline does not necessarily entail termination.

5 Johnson also alleges that the chilling of his speech is the injury in fact suffered, based on 6 his own misconstrued allegations that “Defendants consider the expression of political and social 7 viewpoints that they reject” as grounds for investigation, discipline, and termination. (FAC, ¶ 8 161.) Johnson’s allegations rely heavily on the fact that his colleague was terminated. However, 9 a reading of Garrett’s 90-day notice and Statement of Charges demonstrates that Garrett’s 10 misconduct is distinguishable from Johnson’s alleged future misconduct. (Exs. F and G to FAC 11 (Docket Nos. 8-7 and 8-8).) Garrett filed 36 separate, baseless complaints with the District, 12 sparking 23 third-party investigations.<sup>5</sup> (Ex. F to FAC (Docket No. 8-7), p. 5.)

13 Johnson’s alleged plan to refuse to comply with DEIA regulations merely identifies a 14 “general intent to violate a statute at some unknown date,” which fails to rise to the “level of an 15 articulated, concrete plan.” Thomas, 220 F.3d at 1139. These plans are “essentially another way 16 of saying that the mere existence of a statute can create a constitutionally sufficient direct injury, 17 a position that we have rejected before and decline to adopt now.” Id.

18 ii. The Complaint Does Not Allege A Specific Warning Or 19 Threat

20 Furthermore, “generalized threats of prosecution do not confer constitutional ripeness,” 21 and therefore fail to show a reasonable likelihood of enforcement. Bishop Paiute Tribe v. Inyo 22 Cty., 863 F.3d 1144, 1154 (9th Cir. 2017).

23 Here, the FAC fails to allege the District or Defendants have communicated a specific 24 warning or threat of enforcement. In fact, Education Code section 87734 requires the District to 25 communicate its specific intent to discipline and terminate pursuant to Education Code sections 26 87732 and 87735 in the form of a 90-day notice. The District has not issued Johnson a 90-day

27 <sup>5</sup> As noted in Garrett’s 90-day notice and Statement of Charges, the District investigated 28 complaints against both sides of the “ideological divide” Johnson describes. The District investigates complaints of employee misconduct regardless of political or social viewpoints.

1 notice or expressed any intention of doing so, as evident in its decision not to take disciplinary 2 action based on the administrative determination. (FAC, ¶¶ 75-76.)

3 Therefore, Johnson must rely on alleged informal or implied threats of enforcement, but 4 these too fail to show a reasonable likelihood of enforcement. The FAC identifies Defendant
5 Corkins’ December 12, 2022, statement as a threat of enforcement. (FAC, ¶¶ 66-67.) Johnson 6 cannot rely on Defendant Corkins’ December 12, 2022, statement because that statement is far 7 too generalized, and constitutes the off-hand remark of only one Trustee. There is no sufficient 8 explanation of how that remark even arguably applies to Johnson. Moreover, “[i]t would be the 9 height of irony, indeed, if mere speech, in response to speech, could constitute a First Amendment 10 violation.” Nunez, 147 F.3d at 875.

11 Johnson also identifies then-President Dadabhoy’s December 8, 2022, email as a threat of 12 enforcement. The FAC alleges Johnson subjectively interpreted this email as a message to him 13 and other RIFL members that they would be the “target of suppression, intimidation, and 14 censorship.” (FAC, ¶ 98.) But President Dadabhoy’s email does not make any such threat. The 15 email articulates aspirational community goals in which the community leader – President 16 Dadabhoy – is calling for a “reset” and a renewed sense of commitment to the District’s students 17 in light of the “ideological divide” Johnson alleges in the FAC. (FAC, ¶¶ 59-69; Ex. C to FAC 18 (Docket No. 8-4).) The email reads, “[I]et us have good words, good thoughts, and good deeds in 19 the new year!” and “[i]t is all of our responsibility to ensure all students, faculty and staff feel safe 20 and are able to thrive at Bakersfield College.” (FAC, Ex. C to FAC (Docket No. 8-4).) The 21 email does not identify Johnson or RIFL, nor does it identify a specific intention to pursue 22 discipline against either. This fails to qualify as a “specific warning or threat to initiate 23 proceedings” because any alleged threat within this holiday email is simply not credible, and is 24 instead imaginary and speculative. Babbitt, 442 U.S. at 298.

25 iii. The Complaint Does Not Adequately Allege A History Of 26 Past Enforcement

27 Johnson’s lengthy attempt to analogize Garrett’s discipline and subsequent termination 28 falls short of establishing a history of enforcement under the Education Code or Board Policy

1 3050 in the manner Johnson asserts. The FAC characterizes Garrett’s discipline and termination 2 in a conclusory manner as an attempt by the District to “censor and punish” Garrett’s speech on 3 his “conservative political views and social values” and Johnson “shares many of” Garrett’s
 4 views and values. (FAC, ¶¶ 78, 82-85, 95-96, 100.)

5 The FAC mischaracterizes the Statement of Charges issued to Garrett. A careful review 6 the Statement of Charges reveals the District terminated Garrett in large part for his 7 unprofessional conduct by abusing of the District’s resources with numerous frivolous unfounded 8 complaints and allegations of misconduct against his peers, thereby wasting District resources in 9 investigating those baseless complaints and allegations. (FAC, Ex. G to FAC (Docket No. 8-8), 10 pp. 22-23.) Garrett’s conduct disrupted the College and District operations and diminished the 11 value of the District’s complaint reporting system. This misconduct has no factual similarity at 12 all to the matters Johnson alleges in the FAC as to his own speech.

13 Board Policy 3050, partially relied upon by the District in disciplining Garrett, establishes 14 an institutional code of ethics. To the extent the FAC mentions Board Policy 3050 at all (it does 15 not attach any copy of the policy), it includes conclusory assertions that the District disciplined 16 Garrett on the basis of speech, such as “apparently with respect to his public political and 17 ideological speech” (FAC, ¶ 85) or “Per Defendants, Garrett’s political speech amounted to: 18 [Education Code sections 87732 and 87735 violations].” (FAC, ¶ 96.) However, the 90-day 19 notice notes Garrett abused the EthicsPoint incident management system with 36 baseless
 20 complaints, 23 of which required 3rd party investigation. (Ex. F to FAC (Docket No. 8-7), p. 5.) 21 These public, baseless accusations against Garrett’s ideological opponents wasted college and 22 District resources, which is a violation of Board Policy 3050 as conduct that misappropriates 23 District resources for personal or group gain.

24 The District would have proper grounds to discipline this type of disruptive conduct, 25 regardless of the content of the accusations or if the conduct implicated protected speech.
 26 Rumsfeld v. Forum for Academic & Institutional Rights, Inc., 547 U.S. 47, 62 (2006) (“[I]t has 27 never been deemed an abridgment of freedom of speech . . . to make a course of conduct illegal 28 merely because the conduct was in part initiated, evidenced, or carried out by means of language,

1 either spoken, written, or printed”) (quoting Giboney v. Empire Storage & Ice Co., 336 U.S. 490, 2 502 (1949)).

3 Finally, Johnson does not stand in Garrett’s shoes to a sufficient degree to show Garrett’s 4 discipline will necessarily lead to his own. There are no allegations that the District has indicated
5 it plans to issue Johnson a 90-day notice or any plans to otherwise discipline or terminate 6 Johnson. Quite the contrary, the District has made it clear that there would be no action taken 7 against Johnson. (FAC, ¶ 76; Ex. E to FAC (Docket No. 8-6), p. 10.) The FAC does not indicate 8 Johnson has engaged in the same practice of submitting numerous frivolous complaints that 9 require District investigation or otherwise wasted District resources in violation of Board Policy 10 3050. In fact, the FAC condemns the practice of submitting frivolous complaints – exactly the 11 type of misconduct that supported Garrett’s discipline – given the degree to which Johnson took 12 offense to Professor Bond’s complaint because Johnson believed the District should have 13 dismissed that complaint “out of hand.” (FAC, ¶¶ 74-76.) Therefore, Johnson cannot rely on the 14 District’s discipline of Garrett to show a history of enforcement because the FAC does not 15 sufficiently indicate Johnson plans to engage in the same conduct as Garrett.

16 In light of the foregoing, the FAC does not sufficiently allege that Johnson suffered an 17 injury in fact to grant him standing to assert a pre-enforcement challenge to Education Code 18 section 87732 and 87735 or Board Policy 3050.

19 3. Johnson Names The Individual Defendants In Their Official Capacity
20 Under 42 U.S.C. Section 1983 Yet Fails To Allege Monell Liability

21 Counts one, two, and three of Johnson’s FAC against the individual Defendants in their 22 official capacity should be dismissed, because Johnson alleges the Defendants are liable under 23 Section 1983, yet pleads insufficient facts to establish liability. In Monell v. Dep’t of Soc. Servs.
24 of City of New York, 436 U.S. 658, 690 n.54 (1978), the Court held that local governmental 25 entities, including in that case a Board of Education and the Board of Education’s Chancellor in 26 his official capacity, may only be liable in a Section 1983 action for alleged constitutional 27 violations if the plaintiff meets specific requirements. The Monell requirements apply as well to 28 individual officers sued in their official capacity for injunctive or declaratory relief under Section

1 1983. E.g., Jordan v. Plaff, 2023 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 114002, at *12 (C.D. Cal. June 30, 2023)
2 (“[T]o state a cognizable § 1983 claim against a municipality or local government officer in his or 3 her official capacity, a plaintiff must show the alleged constitutional violation was committed 4 ‘pursuant to a formal governmental policy or a longstanding practice or custom which constitutes 5 the standard operating procedure’ of the local governmental entity.”) (quoting Gillette, 979 F.2d 6 at 1346).

7 Specifically, the Monell Court held that a local government entity is not liable under 8 Section 1983 simply because its employees violated a plaintiff’s constitutional rights. Monell, 9 436 U.S. at 691. Rather, there are two ways a plaintiff may establish a local governing body’s 10 liability under Section 1983. First, a plaintiff may show “that the individual who committed [or 11 ratified] the constitutional tort was an official with ‘final policy-making authority’ and that the 12 challenged action itself thus constituted an act of official government policy.” Gillette v.
13 Delmore, 979 F.2d 1342, 1346–47 (9th Cir. 1992). To determine whether a public officer is a 14 final policymaker, the Court looks first to state law. Jett v. Dallas Indep. Sch. Dist., 491 U.S.
15 701, 737 (1989). Here, Johnson has not identified any public officer at the District as a final 16 policymaker whose action constituted an act of official government policy. Therefore, Johnson 17 has not even begun to establish Monell liability through the first method.

18 Second, a plaintiff can establish Monell liability by showing both a deprivation of 19 constitutional rights and a policy, custom or practice that was the “moving force” behind the 20 constitutional violation. Villegas v. Gilroy Garlic Festival Ass’n, 541 F.3d 950, 957 (9th Cir.
21 2008). There must be “a direct causal link between a ... policy or custom and the alleged 22 constitutional deprivation.” Id. (quoting City of Canton v. Harris, 489 U.S. 378, 385 (1989)). As 23 discussed above, the FAC is devoid of alleged facts showing any actual deprivation of Johnson’s 24 constitutional rights. Although Johnson identified that it is the District’s policy to comply with 25 state law and regulations, specifically the DEIA regulations, Johnson fails to explain how this 26 compliance led to the actual deprivation of his constitutional rights. Even if Defendants’ 27 responsibility for BP 3050 somehow satisfies the pleadings standard, there is no policy, custom, 28 or practice of Defendants with regard to the California Code of Regulations provisions that

1 Plaintiff challenges by this lawsuit. Instead, those are externally imposed requirements of state 2 law. Accordingly, Johnson has not established liability through the second method either, and the 3 Section 1983 allegations against Defendants are subject to dismissal. See Villegas, 541 F.3d at 4 957.

5 B. COUNTS IV AND V LACK MERIT AS A MATTER OF LAW

6 Under Monell, local government entities are only liable for promulgating “polic[ies] or 7 custom[s]” that cause constitutional violations. Monell, 436 U.S. at 694. A policy is a “course of 8 action consciously chosen from among various alternatives.” City of Oklahoma City v. Tuttle, 9 471 U.S. 808, 823 (1985); see also Pembaur v. City of Cincinnati, 475 U.S. 469, 483 (1986) 10 (declaring that liability attaches only where “a deliberate choice to follow a course of action is 11 made from among various alternatives”). If the state mandates that a community college district 12 take a particular action, no such choice exists. See Sandoval v. Cty. of Sonoma, 912 F.3d 509, 13 517-18 (9th Cir. 2018) (indicating there can be no Section 1983 liability if a local governmental 14 entity acts in reliance on a non-discretionary state law); cf. Evers v. County of Custer, 745 F.2d 15 1196, 1203 (9th Cir. 1984) (upholding Monell liability because the law in question was 16 discretionary); see also Vives v. City of New York, 524 F.3d 346, 353 (2d Cir. 2008) (providing 17 that liability under Section 1983 turned on whether state law mandated or merely authorized a 18 city to enforce a particular provision of state law); Bethesda Lutheran Homes & Servs., Inc. v.
 19 Leean, 154 F.3d 716, 718 (7th Cir. 1998) (“When the municipality is acting under compulsion of 20 state or federal law, it is the policy contained in that state or federal law, rather than anything 21 devised or adopted by the municipality, that is responsible for the injury.”). Courts have 22 repeatedly held that California community colleges are subject to a great degree of legislative 23 control. See Stones v. Los Angeles Community College Dist., 572 F. Supp. 1072, 1077-78 (C.D.
 24 Cal. 1983), aff’d, 796 F.2d 270 (9th Cir. 1986).

25 Here, Johnson’s counts four and five in the FAC suggest the District violated Johnson’s 26 constitutional rights by promoting and complying with the DEIA regulations that became 27 effective on April 26, 2023. (FAC, ¶¶ 44, 58, 181-182.) However, Johnson also clearly points 28 out that the actions the Defendants have taken with respect to the DEIA regulations are in

1 “compliance with Cal. Code Regs. tit. 5, §§ 51200, 51201, 53425, 53601, 53602, 53605, and the 2 ‘DEI Competencies and Criteria’ issued per Cal. Code Regs. tit. 5, § 53601.” (FAC, ¶ 182.)
3 Because the District must act in compliance with all state laws and regulations that govern
4 California community colleges, the District has no alternative but to comply with mandatory 5 components of the DEIA regulations to which the Johnson objects. To the extent the State has 6 required compliance by the District, the Defendants cannot be liable under Section 1983 as a 7 matter of law. Sandoval, 912 F.3d at 517-18.

8 Furthermore, Defendants alone lack the power or discretion to unilaterally refuse to 9 enforce mandatory regulations against a particular individual. Instead, that decision must come 10 from the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges, who is not a party to this 11 lawsuit, because it is the body that promulgate the regulations Johnson challenges. The Board of 12 Governors is part of the State of California government and possesses the “duties, powers, 13 purposes, responsibilities, and jurisdiction . . . vested in the State Board of Education . . . with 14 respect to the management, administration, and control of the community colleges.” Cal. Ed.
15 Code §§ 71000, 71024. The Board of Governors also adopts regulations for the California 16 Community Colleges. Cal. Ed. Code § 70901.5.

17 Here, a judgment rendered in the absence of the Board of Governors would substantially 18 prejudice Defendants, as they would be placed in a position where they are enjoined from 19 enforcing a mandatory regulation against Johnson. That prejudice cannot be lessened or avoided 20 by an alternative remedy. Shermoen v. United States, 982 F.2d 1312, 1320 (9th Cir. 1992). The 21 “essential nature and effect of the relief sought” by Johnson indicates the State is the “real, 22 substantial party in interest” as the State, acting through the Board of Governors of Community 23 Colleges, adopted the regulations Johnson challenges. Id. In cases where the State is the real 24 party in interest and the effect of the relief would be “to restrain the Government from acting, or 25 to compel it to act,” the relief may not be granted because it “impermissibly infringe[s] upon”
26 sovereign immunity. Id. Although Sonya Christian, Chancellor of the California Community 27 Colleges, is named in this case, Defendants respectfully submit that the Board of Governors, 28 responsible for the challenged regulations, must be named. Otherwise, this Court should dismiss

1 the FAC.

2 V. CONCLUSION

3 For all the foregoing reasons, Defendants respectfully ask the Court to dismiss Johnson’s 4 First Amended Complaint. Because amendment would be futile, Defendants ask that this Court 5 dismiss the FAC without leave to amend.
