COMMONWEALTH'S MOTION FOR AN ORDER OF NOLLE PROSEQUI

COMES NOW, the Commonwealth, by her Assistant Attorney General, James R. Herring, and moves this Court to Nolle Prosequi the above captioned indictments, for the following reasons:

1. In preparation for the scheduled jury trial, the Commonwealth interviewed Sean Mulligan, a key witness for the prosecution who had been previously interviewed by investigators of the Office of the Attorney General.
2. During the interview yesterday in preparation for trial Mr. Mulligan conveniently and quite surprisingly provided a different version of events from that which he had previously provided to investigators.
3. As a consequence, the Commonwealth is confronted with significant inconsistent statements made by a key Commonwealth's witness.
4. Accordingly, the Commonwealth is no longer able to proceed to trial on the two felony charges.
5. Therefore, as our ethical responsibilities mandate, we are moving this court to enter an order of Nolle Prosequi the two above-captioned felony indictments.

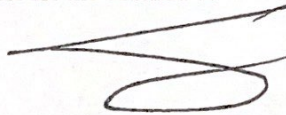

Respectfully Submitted.
